

TREVOR STEWART
Vice Chancellor of District Administrative Services

Trevor Stewart serves as Vice Chancellor of District Administrative Services for the Yosemite Community College District (YCCD), a role he has held since June 2021. He began his tenure with the district in 2016 as Vice President of College Administrative Services at Columbia College.

Mr. Stewart brings over two decades of experience in public education finance. Prior to joining YCCD, he served for ten years as Director of Business Services at Butte-Glenn Community College District. His career in education finance began in the K-12 sector, where he held administrative roles in two school districts. Earlier in his career, he worked at a regional CPA firm, conducting audits for several California community colleges – including YCCD – which sparked his long-standing commitment to public education.

A proud community college graduate, Mr. Stewart began his higher education journey at West Valley College, earning an Associate of Science degree. He later received a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (Accounting) from California State University, Chico, and is a Certified Public Accountant with an active license in California.

Mr. Stewart is actively engaged in regional and statewide governance. He serves on the Countywide Successor Agency Oversight Board of Stanislaus County and previously contributed to Tuolumne and Stanislaus redevelopment agency oversight boards. He is a board member of the Association of Chief Business Officials, representing multiple Central Valley college districts, and serves on several joint powers authority boards on behalf of YCCD.
